There is a large body of scientific evidence showing that massage is effective for reducing muscle pain. Try these self-massage techniques after your next training session!

When you find a tender area/"trigger point," hold over it for 10-20 seconds to release. You can try massage of your pecs, calves, and hip flexors, too!

Remember - self-massage should NOT be painful!